

Accounting for differences due to ...

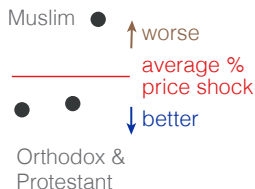

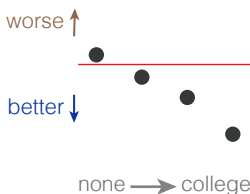

region

time

... these factors are significantly associated with price shocks:

Even after accounting for differences due to region (see maps) and time, education and religion are significantly associated with price shocks:

