

Total shocks

PRICE SHOCKS
19% of households in 2014

- includes price increases, price falls, and input increases
- worst in the southeast

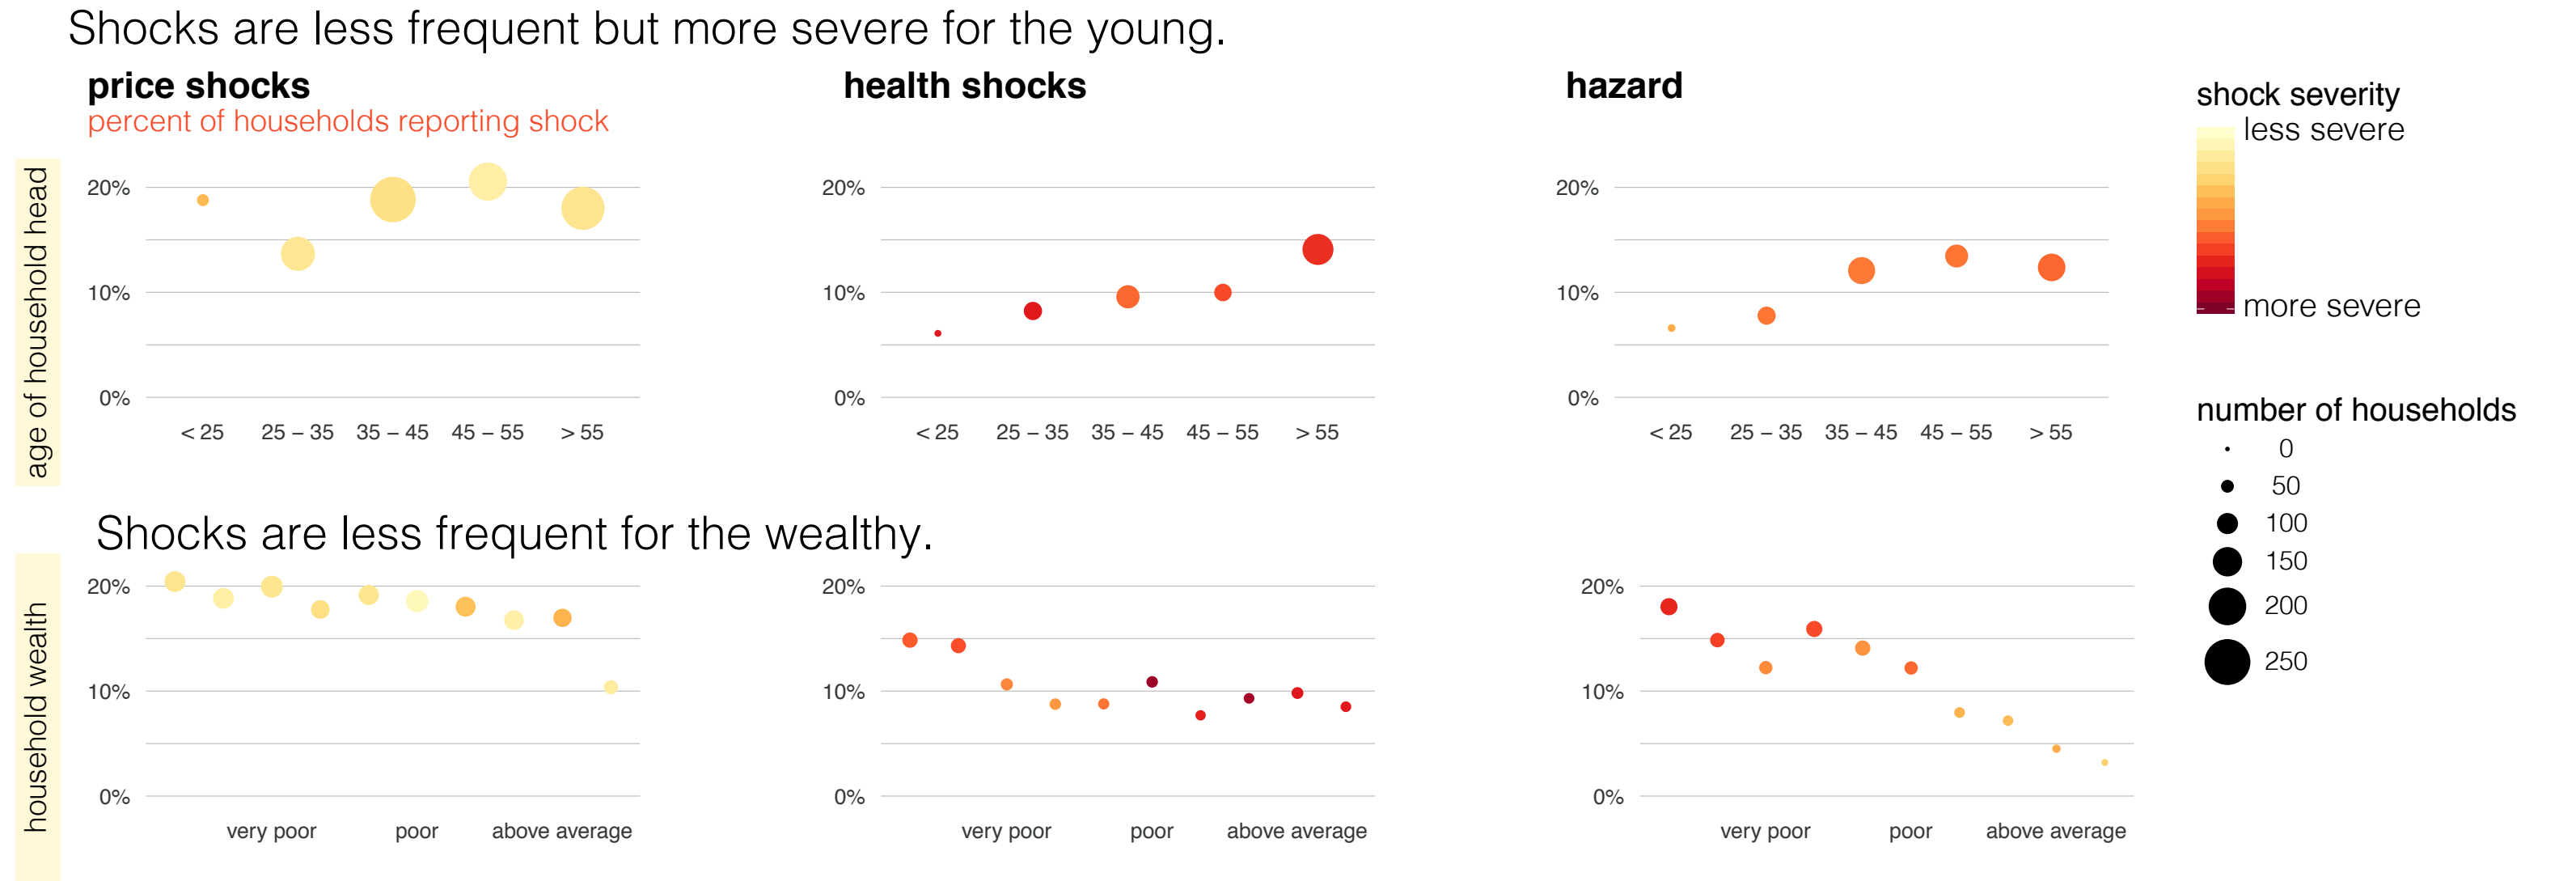

HEALTH SHOCKS
10% of households in 2014

- includes major illnesses and death of the household head
- <<other interesting fact>>

HAZARD SHOCKS
9% of households in 2014

- includes droughts, floods, landslides, and fires
- highly variable between years

Though price shocks are most common, health and hazard shocks were typically perceived as being more severe.

Nearly universally, shocks negatively affected households

How do people cope with shocks to their livelihoods?

Regardless of type of price shock, people tended to cope in similar ways.

